I'm new in tech — I've only started learning front-end technologies half a year ago — but I feel like I've made quite some progress! I'm very motivated, and if you ask anyone who knows me, they'll say I'm pouring all of my effort to learn and start a career, and then some more.

If you're reading this, it means I don't consider you just another company. It means I think I can grow and become a net contributor in your team, and it also means I think we will enjoy working with each other.

Education

Minsk State Linguistic University, 2015–2020

Bachelor of Arts in Orthophony and French Linguistics

Projects

I haven't had a chance to work on a commercial project just yet, but I've made a plenty of website clones during my learning process. You can find my entire portfolio here: <http://ruslanakholod.netlify.com> Below are a couple of short excerpts:

Replica of the official Dove website, May 2018

Inspired by the website of Dove, I made a replica.

Live at: <https://dove-copy.netlify.com/>

Tools I used to build it: HTML, CSS (SCSS), JavaScript (jQuery), Gulp, Git, Netlify.

Replica of the Resource LA website, March 2018

I found <http://resourcea.com/> very interesting and beautiful site so I made a replica.

Live at: <https://resource-copy.netlify.com/>

Tools I used to build it: HTML, CSS (SCSS), JavaScript (jQuery), Gulp, Git, Netlify.

Replica of the official Sass website, February 2018

When I was learning Sass, I liked the official website and I decided to make a replica.

Live at: <https://sass-copy.netlify.com/>

To build it I used: HTML, CSS (SCSS), JavaScript (jQuery), Gulp, Git, Netlify.
